*LORIER: Organization for ethical and responsible Inserm research

The aim of the LORIER programme is to build and share with you a culture of ethical and responsible research that meets the highest international standards.

The role of the LORIER portal is to facilitate the co-construction process and the sharing of the programme resources and tools.

A PROGRAMME

▶ LORIER concerns all staffs and activities at Inserm.

LORIER is supported by working groups and networks of “ambassadors”, who are at once the resources and the driving forces of the process.

Those who wish to get involved are invited to join one of the four closely linked action plans:

Co-constructing the programme agenda with all staff, through workshops, working groups and networks of ambassadors in the field

Training and certify

in ethical and responsible research practices, based on the deployment of a training course offer

Creating

a portal dedicated to the collaborative work carried out, providing contacts and resources

Developing

“research on research” projects

A PORTAL

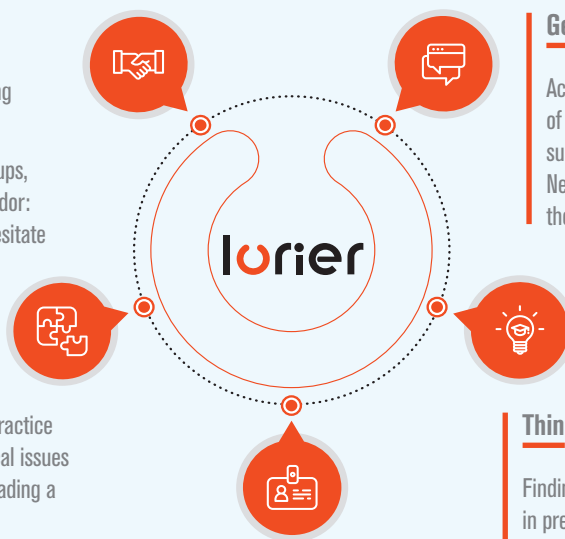

Getting involved

Contributions to resource-sharing (announcements of initiatives, sharing practices, news, publications, ...)

Taking part in scientific steering groups, focus groups, becoming an ambassador: to define your contributions, don't hesitate to contact us!

Putting into practice

Putting ethical and responsible research into practice on the basis of documents dealing with practical issues such as “conducting a research project” or “leading a team”.

Getting informed

Accessing reference resources, as well as presentations of the Inserm structures dealing with these subjects, such as the Scientific Integrity Delegation, the Quality Network, the Research Ethics Evaluation Committee, the Ethics Committee and the College of Deontology.

Thinking about research

Finding out about “research on research” – and projects in preparation or underway in France and abroad. Contributing to the development of the field.

Training

Consult the catalogue of the training courses offered by the LORIER team and by other contributors.
